A communication was received from the Pasadena, Verdugo and San Fernando Valley railroad company regarding the construction of a street railway on Fourth street between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard. Referred to city attorney. Trustee Blackburn offered a resolution which was adopted, rejecting all bids for certain work of street improvement on Third street and re-advertising for bids for said work.

The clerk was instructed to call for bids for electric light department for wire.

The city engineer was instructed to recommend grades where streets cross Brand boulevard between First and Ninth streets where not already established.

Of the bonds already issued, $23,000 has gone for the purchase of the existing plant. About $4350.00 will be required for the transformer house fully equipped with station transformers, street lighting regulator and switchboard apparatus, for a horse and wagon, and for office supplies, so that of the initial bond sale about $14,732 will be available for distributing lines, and street lighting. This will permit of setting most of the poles west of and including Adams street of placing about half of the copper necessary to cover the whole town, of placing 125 street lights in operation, and of making one hundred more service connections.

The present lines, where retained, are being strung with heavier wire to permit of their handling the increased business, to better the service to consumers and to decrease the losses of power. All new lines are being equipped with standard apparatus and sufficiently heavy copper to handle all of the business which will be demanded of them, and all lines are arranged so that future growth of the city will require only extensions, and not rebuilding.

There are now on the lines 235 consumers, an increase of 50 since the acquisition of the plant by the city. Four motors have been connected, with two more to be connected by the 15th of January.

Respectfully submitted,
MGR. ELEC. LIGHTS WORKS.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.

The club ladies had their usual good time at their regular meeting at the G. A. R. Hall Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Englehart, Mrs. Linke and Miss Hickman acted as hostesses. A report from the philanthropic committee gave an idea of the amount of work that was done before Christmas for the Victoria Home and Children's Hospital, and the untiring efforts of the chairman, Mrs. Logan, in collecting and delivering the toys, groceries and wearing apparel that was donated. The amount of three dollars was voted to be sent out of the treasury to the College Building Fund in Berkeley, in addition to any individual contribution that might be made. Ten ladies subscribed for stock in the Building Association, which showed a renewed interest on the part of club members and residents, since the site for the Club House has been changed. Mrs. Ernest Morgan resigned as trustee for the club, and Mrs. Bullis was elected to take her place.

Dr. Emma J. Lucas of Los Angeles delivered a very interesting lecture on Personal Hygiene, and Mrs. James Fowler gave two vocal solos which were well rendered, also a piano solo by Miss Drinkwater was equally enjoyed, and during the social hour refreshments were served in the banquet room.

THE WEATHER.

When we went to press last week a cold rain had begun falling which continued until Saturday (New Year's) morning, measuring at that time according to Mr. Bartlett's gauge 4.33 inches. Saturday and Sunday nights an additional fall of 1.10 inches was recorded. This total fall of nearly five and a half inches constituted the heaviest rain storm that Southern California has experienced in many years. The snow fall came halfway down Mt. Verdugo, touching about the 1000 foot elevation and was heavy on the main range back of Crescenta, and in fact all along the Sierra Madre. Although in some sections considerable damage was done by floods, the storm water from the mountains back of Glendale, passed on down to the river with almost no damage. Street Supt. Stuchair patrolled Central avenue and his vigilance resulted in keeping the flood water within bounds so that practically no damage was done to Glendale streets and the Verdugo Wash kept well within its old channel. Colder weather than this section has experienced for several years has succeeded the rains. The mercury has been as low as 30 degrees for two or three mornings past, hydrants have been frozen up and ice has formed on water in vessels anywhere outdoors.

It is a good many years since we have had such long continued low temperature, but it is not unprecedented. Probably no serious damage has resulted in this immediate vicinity and the depth of snow on the mountains insures abundance of irrigating water for the coming season.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.

At Odd Fellows' hall last Monday evening, newly elected officers were installed by the installation team from Redondo lodge which did the work very smoothly. There was a large attendance, many visitors from Los Angeles and Redondo being present in addition to a good turn-out of local members. There was a banquet at the conclusion of the ceremonies which was put to the high standard set by this lodge and the spirit of good fellowship was very much in evidence. The following were the principal officers installed: N. G. Otto Amberg; V. G. Allen Bullis; secretary, R. E. Chase; treasurer, J. F. McIntyre.

RAILROAD EXTENSION

Track Being Re-laid on Fourth Street to be Extension of Goode System—Franchise Transferred by Pacific Electric

Last Monday morning Contractor George B. Mock began work tearing up Fourth street preparing for the laying of a railroad track along that thoroughfare. As we go to press the grading is about completed and in readiness for the ties and rails. It is generally understood that the Interurban company has transferred its franchise to E. D. Goode and that the road will be an extension of the present Glendale-Eagle Rock line. The movement is not unexpected. It will be remembered that some three months ago the attorneys of the Pacific Electric company gave notice to the city trustees that they would not relay the track. At the same time they said that they would not transfer it as long as the section requiring transfers to and from "Any railroad operated within the city limits of Glendale," or words about to that effect, remained in force. At that time Mr. Goode was trying to induce the city trustees to give him the privilege of continuing his tracks down from Glendale avenue to Brand boulevard and it was presumed that the holders of the franchise were willing at that time to transfer it to him. The trustees, however, thought better to take no action allowing the time limit to expire and see what would happen. January 16th is the date upon which the franchise lapses provided the road is not completed at that time. There being no special conditions in the franchise as granted requiring the completion of the road within any given time, the state law in regard to franchises applies, and this gives the railroad company three years after a franchise is obtained in which to complete the road. There is some confusion in the minds of a great many people about the $1500 bond which the road gave to guarantee the carrying out of its contract. The original road on Fourth street was put in on a permit, no franchise being issued. It follows, therefore, that the franchise sold to the Pacific Electric (Interurban) company three years ago had no reference or application to the road in existence at that time. Therefore the taking up of the road did not make a forfeiture of the bond, neither would the bond be forfeited if the rights granted in the franchises were made use of before the 16th of January, 1910. The city will not rake in that $1500 evidently. At the trustees meeting Wednesday night a communication was received from "The Pasadena, Verdugo and San Fernando Valley Railroad company" protesting against allowing the laying of the track, claiming that the company had in several ways forfeited all rights to it. This company is the same one that when the franchise was awarded made an unsuccessful bid for it through its president, M. A. King.

Mr. Goode informs us that he will have all the necessary material for the road delivered by tonight (Saturday). It will come to Glendale over the Los Angeles railway line via Eagle Rock, connection being made at that point between the rails of the two roads for the purpose. During the coming week the laying of the rails on Fourth street will be completed and the running of a car over the line by the 16th will be an easy matter. Mr. Goode will add another car to the rolling stock of his road, which will enable him to meet cars both ways at Eagle Rock, an improvement on present service which will in itself be of great value, as it will do away with the fifteen-minute wait there which now is necessary half the time.

A REAL MAD DOG IN GLENDALE.

A bull dog belonging to Harry Stockbridge of Lomita Park, died last Sunday under suspicious conditions which to the health officer, Dr. R. E. Chase, seemed to warrant investigation. He, therefore, had a microscopic examination made of the brain of the animal and found that it was an undoubted case of rabies. The animal had been fighting with other dogs and if no other case develops it will be a matter for thankfulness. Lomita Park seems to have a surplus of dogs, anyhow, and if some less serious epidemic should carry some of them off, the neighbors who have none would see in it a dispensation of Providence.

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Fourth street school are giving a food sale today (Saturday) at Mr. R. A. Blackburn's real estate office on Fourth street. Home made pies, pastry, candy, etc., will be on sale all day after ten o'clock.

BULLETIN OF PROGRESS OF THE CALIFORNIA PROMOTION COMMITTEE.

December 31, 1909.

The closing month of the year nineteen hundred and nine has been one of almost unexampled prosperity and from all parts of the state reports to the California Promotion committee indicate a strong upward trend in industrial and financial lines. Banks report enormous increases in deposits and resources. The bank deposits have increased more than $30,000,000 in the past six months, while the resources have increased more than $60,000,000. It is significant of the universal prosperity of the state that the deposits of the savings banks, amounting to $300,000,000, are about one-half the total deposits in all banks.

San Francisco's bank clearings approach closely to the two billion mark, equalling the total clearings of all cities on the Pacific Coast. Los Angeles' clearings have steadily increased from an average in former years of about ten million dollars a week, to an average of about fifteen million.

In all industrial lines the same evidences of prosperity are apparent. While it is too early to give absolute figures on agricultural output, there is no doubt that it has been greater than that of any preceding year.

It gives great satisfaction to the Committee to issue a bulletin evidencing such great prosperity, on the eve of its cessation of existence, and it takes this occasion to announce that hereafter it becomes an integral part of the California Development board.

CHANGES HANDS.

H. A. Jennings has sold his blacksmithing business on the corner of Third and Howard streets to Mr. H. Ritter, a newcomer from Michigan. Mr. Hall visited California sixteen years ago and is now realizing an ambition then formed of making this state his home. With his family he is residing at 906 Lomita avenue.

NEW BUSINESS.

Mr. M. Z. Remsburg, a well-known citizen, has leased the store room on the northwest corner of Fourth and Glendale avenue and is about to open a five, ten and fifteen-cent store. His advertisement appears elsewhere and we have no doubt but that Mr. Remsburg will make his venture a success.

The Teachers' Training Club held their first meeting of the New Year Wednesday, January 5, in the Christian church. Miss Brockway of Los Angeles, state superintendent of Sunday school work, taught the lesson for the Junior and Primary classes for next Sunday. These meetings have become very helpful. The teachers have come to realize that children should be encouraged to search out in nature the objects that illustrate Bible teachings, and to trace in the Bible the similitudes drawn from nature. They should search out, both in nature and in the Bible every object representing Christ. Thus they may learn to see Him in tree and vine, in lily and rose, in sun and star. They may learn to hear His voice in the song of birds, and every object in nature will repeat to them His precious lessons and that "Nature testifies of God."

Wm. Lewis, who has built up a very successful business on Brand boulevard known as the Glendale Dye Works, has sold out to Mr. H. M. Merrill, the well known laundryman who will conduct the business in connection with his laundry trade. Mr. Lewis and family will return for a while at least, to their former New Jersey home.

EAGLE ROCK IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE.

The Eagle Rock Improvement society met at Symphony hall last Monday night. Nothing was done in any way on account of the lack of attendance. It seems that the community does not wish to see the league become a success. If it does, it can not help the league better than by having a large attendance. This league is for the community of Eagle Rock and not for the officers only.

GLENDAL, CAL., JANUARY 8, 1910

Los Angeles has adopted an ordinance requiring the owner of unsightly city lots to clean them up, or the city does it at the owner's expense. Has a city of the second class a right to put such an ordinance into effect, which is denied to a municipality of the sixth class, we wonder? If not, will the city fathers please do something?

But the parkways can be taken care of at least. City fathers please do something again!

Mr. G. J. Kuhrt, our genial friend of Mr. H. E. Huntington's engineering department, was one of the candidates for honors at the beauty show of the Jonathan Club last week. We believe that the cards were stacked against him, as we notice that he did not get the first prize. Mr. Kuhrt should cheer up, however, and may be reminded in his disappointment that beauty is only skin deep.

Some one of the alleged scientists is experimenting to see if he cannot deprive the persimmon of its "pucker." Without claiming to be in the confidence of the Creator, we do not hesitate to say that the pucker is put in to tell glutinous mortals that the fruit is not ripe. This is an age that is given to gliding refined gold, painting the lily, improving the moral law and doing a lot of things generally that serve the performer for pastime but need not be taken too seriously by the multitude.

THE EUCALYPTUS AGAIN.

The planting of a eucalyptus grove is a promising and legitimate enterprise upon certain conditions. One of these conditions is reasonably cheap land and land that is adopted to the growth of the tree. We have just read a four-page advertisement in one of the coast magazines of one of these enterprises, which if not a fraud, certainly bears many of the earmarks of that genus. The advertisement refers to a large tract of land planted to these trees. Here is one of the statements of alleged facts: "An acre today containing 600 of these trees will earn its owner at a single cutting $3000; five acres will yield $15,000. These earnings will then repeat themselves every seven years indefinitely." And then the eucalypt-crazy enthusiast or worse, cheerfully clinches the statement by saying, "No man living can successfully combat these figures." It is pretty difficult to combat prophecy while it is fresh, of this we are aware. It is also difficult to combat a prophecy that has no time limit on it, and it is noticeable in the case quoted that the writer carefully abstains from saying when this phenomenal grove is going to yield this golden harvest.

We are informed that "the entire tract is subterranean by a water stratum 10 to 15 feet below the surface. The roots of the eucalyptus reach this depth within a few months, etc." Imagine a eucalyptus tree, indigenous to a dry climate, flourishing with its roots in an "inexhaustible water stratum." Any tree in good standing among its fellows would be untrue to the traditions of its kind if under such circumstances it did not betray all the symptoms of cold feet.

THE CROSS-TOWN ROAD.

The relaying of the Fourth street track will give Glendale a cross-town railroad from Brand boulevard to Eagle Rock, which will be of very great advantage to this section and aid greatly in the building up of Greater Glendale, while the prime feature making it valuable will be the convenience which it will offer to residents, tourists and other travelers, enabling them to travel to and from Los Angeles by either road with equal ease, we believe that its greatest value will be in the binding together of our own people by ties of closer intimacy than was otherwise possible. The people on the East side of Glendale have been compelled to become more or less acquainted with the West side of town by reason of their patronage of the Pacific Electric. But there has been nothing to make the movement in the other direction, either necessary or convenient. With a cross-town railroad in operation this will be changed to some extent at least. It is fair to assume that a great many residents of Tropic and the section between Brand boulevard and the San Fernando road have not seen Eagle Rock valley. When the cars run between these points, as they will in a few days, the trip will be a pleasant and inexpensive excursion for a large number of people, who will, no doubt, avail themselves of it. The people in every quarter of Glendale and contiguous territory owe it to themselves to become acquainted with the section in which they live. When they acquire this acquaintanceship they will enjoy their life more here for the added knowledge and will have more of the local pride of citizenship. They will learn to patronize home institutions and begin to feel their responsibilities. We hope to see the road pushed on across to the San Fernando road; this would add immensely to its usefulness and to its value as a dividend producer.

A CHANCE FOR KNOX.

The glory which Secretary Knox has acquired from the Zelayan episode needs to be kept carefully in cold storage for time of need. It is not sufficient to answer for present requirements and have any left over for use when that time comes when the honorable Philander shall feel the buzz of the presidential bee in his bonnet. Now if he really wants to do something that shall benefit citizens of the United States in Mexico and the South American countries, let him industriously start in on a campaign to clean out an army of United States consuls down on the other side of the Rio Grande who are neither in their positions for their health nor to protect the citizens of this country in their rights. With probably nine out of ten of them their duties as consuls are merely perfunctory and on the side. Their main business is to make money by becoming interested in certain exploitations which too often require the particular sanction of the government of the country to which they are accredited. And under such circumstances it is unlikely that they would willingly do anything that might interfere with their business. The representatives of Great Britain, Germany and some other countries on the contrary, make a business of being consuls and allow no side issue to interfere when any service to their countrymen is required of them. The trouble primarily is with the government at Washington which penuriously declines to pay for good and exclusive service and aggressive consular agents in Mexico, backed up by the same kind of a government, would soon put a stop to the pleasant habit which prevails in the alleged republic of President Diaz, of putting American citizens into prison to lie there for weeks and months without being brought to trial.

CALIFORNIA PRODUCTS AND CLIMATE.

An excellent lady from somewhere "back East," complaining of a temperature of 30 above zero, one day this week, remarked that "California brags too much about their climate and their products. As for me, I don't see what they have to brag about. I haven't been warm here for a week, while back home we can keep perfectly comfortable all through the winter. As for California fruit, it has the size, but it can't compare in flavor with that of the eastern states, etc." This kind of criticism has been familiar to us for many years past. It is a stereotyped form adopted by newcomers almost invariably, but is as invariably modified when they become possessed of additional knowledge of the subject. Possibly we do brag a little, but really, when we pause to look into the matter we doubt whether there is much exaggeration in our ordinary every day brag after all. The facts all unadorned are tremendous ones and warrant a liberal use of adjectives. At the same time we have our faults. In the Eastern states every house is built with the idea of obtaining all possible comfort when winter time comes. The cold air can be excluded and there is an abundant supply of fuel in the cellar. The person who remains hermetically sealed in the well-built house of the East or Middle West, from the advent of the first chilly northern until the passing of the last blizzard and the cold spring winds, can certainly keep warm. There is such a small portion of the year in California that a healthy person desires to keep indoors that not much provision is made against the chilliness of winter. Indeed, this is a serious defect in many of our hotels and boarding houses. Carelessness in regard to this is a fault to which we must plead guilty. One or two days of discomfort at one of these places of entertainment, is very likely to be productive of discontent upon the part of transient guests, which does not result in the desirable impression which it is our wish to make upon visitors.

But about our products. There are a few wrong impressions abroad as to our fruits, particularly, which are not in accord with the facts. One of these is that California fruits are lacking in fine flavor and inferior to the same variety produced in the Eastern states. As a general proposition this idea is not supported by the facts. Possibly the idea was first conceived by the samples of California fruit obtainable in the Eastern markets. With the exception of pears, it is safe to say that we cannot put upon a distant market any deciduous fruit that is equal in quality to the same fruit that ripens on the tree at home. Therefore California fruits should not be judged by their condition in the markets of Kansas City, Chicago, New York or Boston. Certainly in those markets they cannot fairly be compared with the fresh local products. But California deciduous fruits thoroughly ripened on the trees as they can be for home consumption, are unsurpassed anywhere in quality. This applies particularly to peaches, apricots, nectarines, pears, and plums. Many growers do not use the best judgment, however, either in selection of varieties or in picking at the proper time. The ambition of the retailers of fruit usually is to get it "firm" first of all, which necessitates its being picked before it is ripe. This is particularly noticeable in stores handling small quantities, the larger establishments do not run the same risk of having it spoil on their hands. Take peaches, for instance. The market demand is for the yellow fleshed varieties to the exclusion of the finer flavored, but more perishable white fleshed kinds, such as the Morris White, George the Fourth, Stump the World, etc. In regard to plums also the growers generally favor for market purposes the Japanese varieties rather than the finer flavored old-fashioned kinds which do equally well when given a trial, notwithstanding a common impression to the contrary.

As for melons, California leads the world as to size and quality. On the whole, we believe it can be demonstrated that the prevailing idea of the superiority of Eastern fruits as compared with the California product, will not stand the actual test of comparison side by side of the same varieties grown on opposite sides of the continent. At the same time there is room for great improvement in the selection of varieties and in the picking and handling of the fruit.

Correspondence

A university man of Chicago, Harry S. Richards, writes as follows on the immunity of capitalism:

"If you were to ask the average Christian, or in fact, any one who calls himself a Christian, if stealing is immoral and sinful, he would unhesitatingly reply in the affirmative. But if you were to ask him if the present order of economic society is not based upon a system of legalized stealing, the chances are ten to one that he would be absolutely unable to understand the meaning of your question. The average Christian does not see anything violently unusual in our present system of getting a living. He may be willing to admit that a man who attempts to practice the golden rule cannot succeed in business, but he will tell you that Christianity is not a system of ethics applicable to the affairs of this life, but rather this life is a preparation for a better life to come, the immortal life in heaven, which we shall be able to live as Jesus lived when upon earth. We who call ourselves Christian Socialists, are profoundly convinced that capitalism in the light of Christian ethics, is immoral. We are convinced that the present system of economic society is based upon legalized robbery. And why do we thus believe?"

1. Jesus taught men that they should treat one another as brothers; that we should love our fellows even as we love ourselves. But capitalism forces us to struggle against our fellows in order to get a living. If we wish to undertake any great productive enterprise, which requires a vast aggregation of capital, we are forced to borrow that capital at interest, and in order to pay that interest the borrower must make a profit upon his investment. But he cannot make a profit unless he exploits labor, i. e., pays labor only a small part of its product in the form of wages. The exploitation of labor by capitalism is a form of robbery, legalized by the state, and sanctioned by the church. Capitalism is therefore immoral because we cannot love our brothers as ourselves and at the same time exploit them for our own private gain. No true follower of the ethical teaching of Jesus can sanction a system of production which violates this fundamental teaching of Jesus.

2. Jesus taught His disciples to pray for the speedy coming of the kingdom of heaven upon earth. But capitalism is doing everything in its power to prevent the coming of the kingdom. Modern capitalism is the greatest enemy of religion in the world today. It withers the religious life of all who accept its conventions; it forces the masses of mankind to antagonize the church because too often the church is allied with the defenders of the capitalist system. The reason why the church is impotent to reach the masses is not because the masses are irreligious or atheistic, but because the church does not stand for the religion of Jesus. Christian ethics are incompatible with the ethics of capitalism, if capitalism can be said to have any ethics. The church cannot uphold a system of legalized robbery and at the same time stand for the religion of Jesus. Christianity is not a system of beliefs, but a way of life; not a dogmatic interpretation of the teachings of Jesus, but an inspiration to social service and devotion to the highest welfare of mankind. Christianity is essentially a religion of action, not a passive species of mysticism. The true Christian cannot in silence face the colossal injustice and brutality of modern economic society.

AVIATION WEEK.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Going far beyond the aviation meeting at Rheims, France, in the matter of prizes, both as to amounts of money offered and number of prizes to be given, and being already assured of many more contestants for aerial honors than appeared at Rheims, the projectors of the aviation meeting to be held in this city from January 10th to 20th of next year are confident that the flights by heavier-than-air machines, spherical balloons and dirigibles at Los Angeles field will make aviation history of a startling nature. That all of the present world's records in aeronautics and aviation will be broken is already an assured fact, and some hint of the attempts to do more wonderful things in the air than ever have been attempted before may be gained from the list of prizes that has been given out by Dick Ferris, general manager of the Los Angeles Aviation meet.

In the first place the aggregate amount of all the prizes is something more than $80,000, and when it is known that at Rheims the prizes totaled less than $40,000, the significance of this is at once apparent. The sky sailors will be under greater stimulus, and there will be many more of them to enter the contests. In three grand prizes, of $10,000 each, the Los Angeles committee has offered the richest rewards for pilots of aeroplanes, spherical balloons and dirigible airships ever known. These three grand prizes are offered for longest flights in each division. To the pilot of the first spherical balloon to make a continuous flight from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast, one of the grand prizes will go. To the pilot of a dirigible airship who will make a flight from Los Angeles to San Francisco another $10,000 will be given, and to the aviator who will break the present world's record long distance, altitude and speed records in a heavier-than-air machine, there is another $10,000 waiting.

At Rheims there was but one prize of $10,000, called the grand prix. The great deciding prize, and the Gordon Bennett trophy were won by Glenn H. Curtiss, the American, who will attempt at Los Angeles to beat the previous flight record, and who is coming here in anticipation of winning more than the $10,000 offered as a grand prize in the division in which he will compete. But he will have to figure with Paulhan, and numerous other of the noted European aviators, and with Charles F. Willard, Charles Hamilton, and other American record breakers.

Besides the grand prizes for longest flights in the three divisions of air navigation, there will be prizes aggregating $45,000 for aeroplanes, in speed and altitude flights, as well as in distance flights; and in the division for dirigible airships the prizes aggregate $13,000 for distance flights. Prizes aggregating $22,500 are hung up for the pilots of spherical balloons in distance flights and for altitude attained.

Already many of the aviators and aeronauts who are to make flights during the meeting are on the ground with their airships, and those who are coming from Europe have left there and will arrive in Los Angeles during the next few days. No accurate estimate of the number of the various kinds of aircraft that will be seen in Los Angeles can be made at this time, but already the list of those under contract is upwards of fifty.

UNION EVANGELICAL CAMPAIGN.

Meetings opened last Sunday afternoon and evening in Filger Opera house with crowded audiences. The people were somewhat disappointed that Prof. Bilhorn of Chicago, was not present, and it is probable he will not be present, as he is sick in bed at Chicago. However, Evangelist Henry had secured Prof. Potts and wife to assist. Prof. Potts has had considerable experience as an evangelistic singer and worker, and after hearing his sweet toned notes and noting his fine spirit, the people settled down in the satisfaction that they had the right man in the right place. Mrs. Potts is a product of the famous Sherwood school of Chicago, and is a remarkable performer and a great assistant in the services. A fine chorus choir has been secured and is doing efficient work. Evangelist Henry has been preaching a great message. For earnestness, impassioned speech, sledge-hammer blows, clearness, a discernment of the needs of the soul, Glendale has not seen the like of Dr. Henry. He is holding up a great vision as to the loftiness of the Christian ideal. You cannot afford to miss hearing the heart-messages of Dr. Henry. You can not afford to miss hearing the solos of Prof. Potts, the marvelous playing of Mrs. Potts and the singing of the chorus choir.

Services are held every night, 7:30, except Saturday, and every afternoon, 3:00, except Monday and Saturday. Sunday afternoon Evangelist Henry will preach on "Heaven," and Mrs. Henry will sing "The Heavenly Home." Union Young People's meeting 6 o'clock.

In the evening Dr. Henry preaches on "The Unpardonable Sin" and by request Prof. Potts will sing "The Broken Heart."

Friday afternoon, 3:30, of next week there will be a Young People's meeting between ages of 8 and 16. Come! Great interest is shown in these meetings and great work is counted upon in Glendale. You cannot afford to miss a single one of these meetings.

The side losing in the race will be compelled to give to their opponents an entertainment and treat, this treat to take place within a month after the close of the contest. Judging by the enthusiasm with which the young people took to this proposition, it seems that there will be a great deal of work done in this church during the coming weeks.

This business meeting, which was held in the church parlors last Tuesday evening, was largely attended and was the first successful meeting held by this body for a year past. Games were played and refreshments were served.
